Subject: feedback on the Shire 'Emergency Action Guide'

Dear Mayor Lyn McLaughlin,

Last Monday (20 November) I was sitting on a plane, in between 2 people, both coincidentally from Ayr. I thought - this must be a special place. We 3 chatted the whole trip from Sydney to Townsville. The bloke on my right was gave me a document that had been mailed to him the previous week - indeed to every resident in the Shire. The Mayor's letter was dated the day of my travel - so it was very current.

From a little Council - and me with the 'southerner perspective' I was blown away !

Well done - what a brilliant document (the Emergency Action Guide). My role with the NSW Rural Fire Service is community engagement. I work with 5 of our fire districts - approx. 12 Shires based west of the Great Divide and north of the Riverina area. This is an unparalleled document. You should be absolutely commended... and proud of your outstanding effort. I see the need for such a document regularly, as I frequently answer community questions in all manner of forums about the matters you have addressed here.

Professionally I like how you have combined all natural disaster situations. I like the fact that it provides a 'what to do before', 'what to do during' and 'what to do after' call-outs for each style of emergency. Particularly for the bush fire component, I like the mix of words and images for preparation on page 27. Our organisation used to do this information well, but it appears to be recently overtaken by the Australian Red Cross who are promoting their disaster plan - possibly as a whole of Government response to reducing the cost of such document preparation. What such a process does is take away the specific nature of information presented. Your document is excellent (eg the inundation maps for storm surge). The Red Cross document is also drifts wider of the mark by suggesting that people should check their insurances etc, - when I believe the survival focus should be as your Shire has nailed it.

I also have a brother in law in a large commercial building firm in Cairns - who has been there 25 years, and I know he would be most complimentary of this document - cyclone Yasi as a prime example, but also as he works regularly on Murray Island & Thursday Island.

Demographically, I like what I see in terms of Burdekin Shire councillors. I warmed straight away to the images of you people leading the Shire, and what this local Government area is doing. Well done, you appear a sincere mix of suitably passionate and respected locals - a great advertisement for the District and the Shire.

and my source....thanks to John Furnell for passing over his document to me... a true life-saver in many more ways than one. He reasoned he can easily get another copy

Sincerely,
Andrew N

Subject: CANCELLED - Liquor Accord tomorrow

Hi all,

Due to a number of factors I am unable to attend the Liquor Accord tomorrow and am therefore forced to cancel it. We will meet back again in February 2018 to discuss peoples aims and how we can best support you all and in what format that may be in.

I would like to acknowledge the support we have all received from the Burdekin Shire Council. Thank you for the use of your meeting room and the provision of tea and coffee. Thank you also Cr Tony Vaccaro and Cr Tony Goddard for your attendance amongst your own busy schedules.

So what have we achieved since we started this accord? When we consider we have really been going for just over a year and we only meet every second month, we have made slow but steady progress in the right direction. We have had presentations from Qld Fire & Emergency Services on fire legislation, Mark Crocker from the Police Drug Squad spoke on the different types of drugs and effects on people , Amanda Watson from Qld Health spoke on the Safer Venues Program and David Chaffey and Carrie Malouf from the Office of Liquor and Gaming have been regulars at the meetings giving you open access to liquor and gaming experts to provide the most up to date advice on the many changes that affect your business and local police have also attended to increase you network and talk about local incidents. So in hindsight we have achieved a lot and I believe the meetings are beneficial but can be more beneficial to your business with greater attendance and also attendance by your other managers.

In 2018 I am looking forward to offering staff training to venues either individually or as a multi-venue group focussing on RSA and also another presentation to security on their legal powers and reporting requirements in the security register to better protect your business.

As always, we are open to suggestions and input from local venues. If you have a need for information we can steer you in the right direction or have a guest speaker address that specific issue at the next meeting etc.

I hope you all have a safe and prosperous Christmas and a great New Year. Stay safe and we will see you in 2018.
